

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Automate 2017 Was Very Good for Smart Vision Lights (SVL)

Getting ready for the automation industry's largest North American show and conference feels like the work of a year crammed into three months. But when it's over, and you're counting the opportunities to help your customers, solving new applications, and thinking about all the kind words from your partners about how they love Smart Vision Lights' new look, you know all the hard work was worth it.

And the gold medal didn't hurt either. Yep, for two years' running, SVL has taken home top honors from Vision Systems Design's Innovators Awards contest. This time, the LM "mini-linis" with dual-mode internal driver won the day. Last year, it was the LHP 5 million lux light cannon, which won the platinum

Thanks again for all the positive support and votes that helped us bring this award home. You can learn more about the LM series, new big panel lights, application how-tos, and much more in our newly released catalog, and if you have any questions, as always, just call.

Best wishes for a great 2017, and keep watching for more award-winning products that will be coming your way soon!
